

hespe status

michele piana

dipartimento di matematica, università di genova

cnr – spin, genova

first year report
(date of submission: 30/04/2012)

- “Project has achieved most of its objectives for the period with relatively minor deviations.”
- “The HESPE project is making excellent progress toward this goal of making this widespread application of sophisticated analysis techniques to a vast array of data straightforward to implement and will play a key role in the overall advancement of this important field of study.”
- “The management has been properly addressed. The communication with the coordinator is excellent.”
- “I declare that I have reviewed the publishable summary, the project web site address and the related attached documents submitted by the Project Coordinator (as well as the publishable documents provided in the final report in case of the last reporting period) and I find them suitable for publication, i.e. on CORDIS or via other channels.”

second payment

- the file is in the payment loop since april 30 2012
- the project officer foresees that the money will be available at unige around the beginning of next week
- unige will immediately forward the respective amounts to all beneficiaries (please check the bank coordinates)

next deliverables

- D4.1 Specification of algorithms for imaging, spectroscopy, and imaging spectroscopy (Month 18: june 2012)
- D5.2 Publication of the visibility database (Month 24: november 2012)
- D3.1 Specification of models for particle acceleration mechanisms for selected events (Month 24: november 2012)
- D3. 2 Specification of models for energy release for selected events (Month 24: november 2012)
- D3.3 Specification of paradigms for simulation of synthetic data (Month 24: november 2012)

next meetings

- second annual hespe meeting: unigraz, first week of october
- intermediate meetings:
  - asi meeting, rome, may 29
  - rhessi/something meeting: california, first week of december
  - sipwork, montana, second week of august
  - solar orbiter meeting: bruges, september